Election results, Malta: European Parliament Election 2009 Parties represented in the election: MLP - Malta Labour Party (Partit Laburista) PN - Nationalist Party (Partit Nazzjonalista) AD - (Alternattiva Demokratika) IE - Imperium Europa (Imperivm Evropa) AN - National Alliance (Azzjoni Nazzjonali) Other Three aspects of the results stand out: First, the Nationalists failed – as they did in the previous EP elections – to achieve a majority of the first-counts votes even though they had failed in that respect in only one of the six previous general elections. Second, the votes for the two AD candidates totaled only 2.34% compared with the 9.33% the party had reached in 2004. The fate of Malta's third political party now seems to be extinction, as its positions on environmental and social issues have been partially absorbed by the major parties. Third, although illegal immigration and the accompanying xenophobia were quite prominent in public opinion, the two parties (Imperium Europa and National Alliance) which made these the focus of their campaigns were quite unsuccessful electorally. Source: http://www.maltadata.com/euro2009.htm
